

FASD Network book launch September 8th, 2016

2016 marks the 17th year of International FASD Awareness Day. The FASD Network will be recognizing Awareness Day on September 8th as we launch our book, "FASD Unexpected Journeys," a collection of stories from people whose lives have been affected by FASD. It is our hope that this book will help end the stigma and misconceptions around FASD by bringing a little more awareness to the world.

The book launch will be held the night prior to Awareness Day and feature presentations by individuals living with FASD and their caregivers.

FASD Network Awareness Day Event

September 8th, 2016

5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Presentations at 5:30 p.m.

Presentations by Nikki Howes, Shana Mohr & Myles Himmelreich

As a provincial non-profit organization, we at the Network would greatly appreciate your presence on September 8th as we launch our book, "FASD, Unexpected Journeys."

FASD Awareness Day is about bringing greater exposure to FASD while unmasking the myths and misconceptions associated with the disability. With your support we can create greater awareness of FASD and help prevent the disability from happening, all while advocating for increased services for those already living with the disability.

About the FASD Network

The FASD Network of Saskatchewan Inc. is a non-profit provincial organization that assists both individuals living with the disability and their caregivers. The Network's goal is for individuals living with FASD and their support providers to recognize themselves as safe, supported, valued and contributing members of society.
